AFFAIRS IN INDIA.

Lord Morley Commended. The speech delivered by Viscount Morley

at the Indian Civil Service Dinner is calculated to create a feeling of profound satisfaction in India and allay the present unrest to a far greater extent than he can conceive, if only his future actions reveal the true sympathy which he expressed with Indian aspirations and hopes of political advancement, remarks a correspondent i an Indian contemporary. It promises no great boon to the educated community, but the terms of sympathy he employed and the refusal to be scared by alarmists must go a long way in instilling hope even among those who have learnt to despair. "Our first duty is to preserve order," said Lord Morley, and overybody will be disposed to agree with him except those irreconcilables whose creed is the propagation of violent measures. Nor do I think that strong objection can be taken to the neasures recently adopted to maintain order. The Explosives Act, as the Secretary Tuture. of State said, should have been passed twenty years ago, and cannot be objected to by any except Nihilists and other monsters in human shape. But exception has been taken in certain quarters to the Press Act, by which Lord Morley stands. So far as Moderate public opinion is concerned, the Act will be welcomed. No Moderate leader loves violence even for political entranchisement, and most of them detest it as the worst means of human progress. National' advancement must always rest upon the sure and certain foundation of Moral Laws and not upon violence, as the French Revolution and even the execution of Charles I have shown. Dynamite has not placed the Russian Revolutionaries any nearer the goal of the freedom of the Slavs. The same history is repeated everywhere. Violence, instead of frightening the autho rities, only hardens them. This grand historic truth has been learnt by all Moderate politicians and none detest and abhor force more strenuously and carnestly than they.

The Press Act cannot be said to be a menace to honest journalism, whose mission is not to purvey sedition or incite to violence. It deals only with journals which have made it a point to propagate violent doctrines. No one can say that the offending journals are few or that their influence is small. Even if it were so, their existence cannot be justified. One singular feature of the recent Press prosecutions has been that criticism on them has not taken the direction of justification of the incriminating articles, but of condemnation of the severity of the senttences awarded in each case. I have carefully read the Calcutta native papers, and while a certain section objects to the severity of the sentences, the other welcomes it, as it spreads what is called "Nationalism" or the "New Movement." But if repetition of the offence is a feature of Bengali journalism, even its sympathisers will fall off. India will not be the worse off for the discontinuance of disreputable rags of newspapers. Indeed, she would be better for their ending. A higher tone would be given to public life, and public virtues would be better fostered. There are no doubt honourable exceptions. But they do not, and cannot, come under the new Act. What is more assuring is that Lord Morley has directed the Government of India to report all proceedings under the new Act, which he undertakes to place before Parliament. There is the guarantee for the fierce light of Parliamentary criticism being thrown upon all prosecutions under the new Act, and I dare say, that it will be a sufficient deterrent to the Government of India taking undue action.

If Lord Morley had stopped at forging repressive measures, his position would be greatly assailed, but he proceeded to say things which infuse fresh hope into us Indians. By far the finest things he has said is that the establishment of Universi tles is a more momentous step than the transference of India to the Crown. At time when higher education is condemned as a failure, Viscount Morley's approbation of the result of University education is significant. Who, for example, can accuse, (Continued on Page 3.)

HOW TO DO MORE BUSINESS

MANY AMERICANS have built up great commercial enterprises, by the use of Trade-news, items supplied by our

CLIPPING BUREAU; Chinese merchants can do the same if they follow American methods. We clip business news from more than Reprinted from the 'CHINA MAIL!' 50,000 papers monthly, and send these Pamphles Form. items to you while there is good prospect of supplying what is needed and doing

We can send you neve and clippings on any line of business, or any subject, and you will be able to know, IN TRUTH, just what American business methods are like, and where there are openings for Chinese EAST PRAYA RECLAMATION

Suppose, for instance, you are a maker of Pottery; our Clipping Bureau might find in some paper an item saying that a big wholesale Pottery concern was being organized, in a certain town :—we; of course, would send you that business news item, and give you a chance to do business with that firm.

We can do just the same in any line of business, for there is always something being on that it might pay Uhinese merchants to know. We can supply you with advertisements of all the great American merchants and manufacturers, so that you may seemilate their ideas and increase your business in China the way we do here. for one month's trial order. Subsequent rate can be determined according to service.

It won't boat any money to send for our fine Book which tells all about our service and how much it costs. Send for it to-men like Sir P. M. Mehta, Mr Gokhale, Sir Gurudas Bener jea, Dr. Ashutosh Mukherjee, Dr. Rash Behari Ghose, and others, of harbouring sedition ! And they are the best products of the Universities. It can be seen that the socalled "New Movement" is in the hands of school-hoys, failures of Universities and other liopelessly incompetent youths who cannot properly appreciate the result of their own actions. Viscount Morloy spoke of the day when there would not be a large body of reasonable men; but that is a far distant day which may never arrive so long as the Universities impart the best from Western literature, history, philosophy and science. The problem that confronts statesmen is how to satisfy the aspirations of the growing educated community. "Unless we can somehow reconcile order with the satisfaction of those aspirations," said Lord Morley, "the fault will be ours and, not theirs." Order can be kept, and at no great cost; but the difficulty is to satisfy the aspirations which Western education and civilisation have aroused in us. It cannot be denied that those aspirations are being satisfied slowly: only the progress is small. The expansion of the Legislative Councils. under the Lord Cross Act and of Municipal Government during Lord Ripon's resime were some steps in that direction. But a arther move is necessary. For example, Auglo-Indian journals like the "Madras Mail" have urged the need for appointing Indians in the Executive Council of the Viceroy and the Governors. Reform on a arger basis in the constitution of the Legislative Councils is also suggested. These calls have only to be responded to. It is the unanimous opinion of public men that the scheme of the Government of India does not satisfy us, rather it is a step backwards. It must be possible to remove the defects of the present scheme and bring it into line with the wishes of the best sons of India. Let it be said that men like Sir Pherozeshah Meh a, perhaps the greatest Indian of the age, do not look forward immediately to the Colonial system of Government; but they look ferward to some substantial concession. The period of repression is over, let us hope, and let the constructive statesman show his handiwork. Viscount Morley can be assured of due sympathy from the enlightened classes in any scheme which renders possible the realisation by Indians of the full rights of British citizonship.

MAINTAINING OUR TRADITIONS

Ar a period when many Britons are too apt to cheerfully acquiesce in the proposition that, racially, we are "going to the dogs;" that we have lost that which has built up our Empire, it is well that we should occasionally hear of incidents such as those associated with the loss of H. M. S. Gladiator and the Mixed with Aerated or the splendid illustration they afford that a high and noble ideal is still a part COOLING DRINKS and not the least part, of the national character. and so forth. That is the effort of the Briton to contend against physical coftness. A most hopeful sign that determined stand is being made against mental enervation is found in the fact that nearly every month sees the establishment of some nev organisation or periodical, the purpose of which is to encourage the Imperial idea. While not advocating aggression towards our neighbours the has wired to the Wai Wu Pu informing publicists who urge the necessity of preserving our belief in ourselves and in our desting, lay stress on the fact that there have been undoubted symptoms of late years, that we are losing that robustness of mind without which a nation is certain to forfeit, first its own self-respect, and secondly prohibition, and the Vicercy at Wuchang mination to uphold the rights we have won floes not by any means involve forthwith. any designs on the rights of our neighbours. We are inclined to belie that confidence in ourselves is alread, returning. If this is so the magnificent examples of heroism given by the men of the Gladiator and the officers of the submarine to which reference has been made, will go far to revive our drooping belief in ourselves. THE LIBEL CASE. Chief Justice Sums Up.

After twelve days the action by Leung Hai Nam and others against Reuter, Brockelmann and Co., who were alleged to have illegally procured the Chinese authorities to seize the premises of the plaintiffs at Canton, was concluded before the Chief Justice, Sir Francis Piggott, and a special jury, at the Supreme Court to-day,

Mr M. Slade, instructed by Mr C. F. Dixon, of Messra Hastings and Hastings, appeared for the plaintiffs, and the Hon. Mr. H. E. Pollock, K.C., and the Hon Sir Henry Berkeley, K.C., instructed by Mr. E. P. Lang, defended.

His Lordship in summing up, said that the patience of the jury had been tried for so many days, that he almost hesitated to take up very much more of their time by summing up in that very complicated case, but he felt sure that the same patience which they had extended to learned coursels, would also be was in the negative by a majority of 5 to 2. extended to him. Messrs Router, Brockelmann and Co., he believed were a German firm at Hamburg, with branches in Hongkong and Canton and elsewere. Throughout the early history of the case it had been frequently repeated that a firm in Canton could not bring an action against a firm in Hongkong, but that could not he ser in the eye of the law. He had a great deal of law to talk, on the questions of law which had been raised by learned counsel, and which must be dealt with exhaustively by the judge, and he must, for good or ill, give a decision upon them. That the alleged wrong was done in Canton there could be no doubt. One of the points which had been taken by in concealing the identity of their partners Sir Henry Berkeley, with that admirable I by the use of "Hong" names, was one to be courtesy which had always distinguished discouraged, and firms using such names him, and learned counsel" would pardon ought not to be allowed to liave the benefits rivals of foreign sailors and he did no him if he paid him a further compliment I of the Courts. when he said that he had displayed a learning of the most intricate points of the English law, on this particular point which was that the libel had not been properly set out. It was a subject which, if he had not had considerable experience in, he would have on the 1st July, 1908 :had to take longer time to consider The decision which he gave upon that poin was one which he felt sure would appeal to thom, and that was that it was too late it the day to take a point of that sort. The should have had to, begin all over again and the only possible ponalty would b that the defendants would have to pay the costs. The second point, with regard to the seizing of the premises at Canton was an exceedingly difficult one to deal with and he could only deal, he would not say with certainty, but as it appealed to his mind, with what was the law on the case. It was not Chinese law but German law, and he was satisfied that the defendant must fail on that point and that the plaintiffs were entitled to the verdict There was something missing. The defendants had been talking about judicu privilege but they did not know what ha been done except from verbal evidence The Chinese warrants as to legality, on which so much reliance had been placed by the defendants had not been produced. The law stated that other people's goods could not be seized without it being shown that there was proper reason for so doing. It had also been said that if the defendants did not succeed it would be a serious blow to the Treaty, but he entirely demurred to However right anyone was i their claim they could not enforce it is a manner which the law did not allow. The warrant was not produced and there was no means of judging whether the warrant was right or wrong and on that ground alone the plaintiffs were entitled to s verdict. The German Consul had been Communition per head ! roundly abused by the defendants in one of their letters and, continued His Lordship, "I think there is not a better abused person in the wide world than a Consul.

Some Amazing Figures

There is a pretty general impression that the Japanese do not produce so many very aged people as the peoples of the West, but if confidence can be placed in some re markable figures quoted by the "Yorodzu this belief requires considerable modification, A few months ago that journal asked its readers throughout the Empire to report to it the names and ages of persons among their acquaintance of above ninety years of age. As an inducement, the "Yorodzu offered small prizes to those who in formed it of the ten bldest and also promised to make a gift of gold or silver cup to the centenavinus named. It now states that it has received tens of thousands of answers. According to these, there are this wintry 4,622 per sons who are above the tee of ninety. these 388 are centenarians, the oldest being 111 years old, a woman living at line mura in Shizooka ken. BRITAIN'S DEPENDENT

EMPIRE.

Duty in Development.

LONDON, June 17. At the Royal Colonial Institute last night Lord Milner delivered an address on the better organisation of the Empire. He remarked that, besides closer union and co-operation with the self-governing colonies, another object was the retention and development of our dependent Empire, especially India, which would probably always be the greatest of our possessions.

We should interest the self-governing States, Lord Milner believed, in the affairs of the dependent Empire, and in this connection he instanced the attitude of the colonies towards the coloured races as one of the dangers due to colonial acquaintance with our dependent Empire being so limit

Some form of Imperial Council, Lord Milner said, purely deliberative in the first instance, was needed to correlate the efforts made to solve problems of common interest

GERMAN YS PRADE IN THE FAR E ST.

Germany's trade with Japan and China totalled a value of 260 million marks in 1907, compared with 250 million marks in the previous year. It is worthy of note that in 1907 the value of the German trade with Japan exceeded for the first time that of the trade with China. For, as compared with 1908, the value of Japanese trade rose from 114 millions to 132 millions of marks, while the trade with China went down from 130 to 129 millions. In the case of both countries Germany's export traffic exceeded the import, the import from Japan being, however, much smaller than that from China. On the other hand, the export of German goods to Japan is half as large again as the export to China.

YOUR NERVOUS SYSTEM IS OUT OF ORDER.

NEGLECT IS DANGEROUS. HERE IS TESTIMONY FROM BOMBAY PROVING THAT THE REMEDY'S YOU NEED IS

DR WILLIAMS PINK PILLS. 'REMBLING or unsteadiness of the hands is a sure and early sign of debilitated Nerves. Neglected, the trouble may develop slowly to the worst stages. The sufferer feels unaccountably weak and woary after exertion, loser appetite, grows thin and irritable, has Indigestion, is depressed a d easily worried; sharp pains begin to shoot down the spine and legsthe end is complete nervous collapse, perhaps Paralysis.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are the greatest proved Nerve Tonic in the world. They have stood the test of twenty __years, and during that time have cured thousands of sufferers from Nervous Disorders, They have o en cured Locomotor Ataxy Paralysis in its worst form--which hitherto had been deemed incumble. Here are the facts of a case where Nervous Debility was promptly cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in Bombay.

Mr F. D. Laleaca resides at 51 Frore Road, Bombay. He has been head of an important department in a European firm of General Merchants there for many years, and is one of the most highly respected members of the Parses community. "In the year 1902 I found myself afflicted with a strange trembling and numbress extending down my arms to the fingers, and also down the side of my hody and leg to the foot," said Mr Lalcaca when interviewed recently. "Sometimes this was on the right side, sometimes on the left, and sometimes on the both sides. I also began to suffer with frequent headaches, and had a sensation of general weakness and languor. The dector said my trouble was General

Debility. "Through reading in the London weekly paper "Ti Bits" some information regarding Dr Williams' Pink Pills for the Pale People which in de me think they might suit my case, I decided to try these Pills, with the result that after I had taken the very first bottle of them. I felt greatly benefitted and strengthened. A-few more bottles of Dr Williams' Pink Pills coniploted the good work of the first, for by the time I had finished them the trembling and numbriess were completely gone, also the headaghes, and since then I have been well. I am now a warm advocate of Dr Williams' Pink Pills. Whenever I feel in the least bit run-down or weak I at once take some and they promptly put me right. I am perfectly willing that what I have said should be used for the information and benefit of other sufferers."

It is by purifying and strengthening the blood, and by giving a supply of new, rich blood to the system, that Dr Williams' Pink Pills build up the nerves and restore the various organs of the body to a state of healthy vigour. This is why they are world-famous as the great remedy for Amenia (bloodlessness), Nervous Debility, Early Decay, Indigostion, Liver Complaint, Palpitations, Headsches, Malaria, Rheumatism, Sciatica, Paralysis, Beri-Beri, Pimples, Boils, Fezema and Skin Disorders, and the after-effects of Ecvers, Dysentery and Chills. To ladies suffering from the ailments of their sex they are of especial value, and men broken-down by overwork, are speedily restored by their use. Dr Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are obtainable at most shops where medicines are sold and also direct from the Dr Williams' Medicine Co., Singapore, price $8 for 6 bottles, or $1.50 for one bottle, post
